

Before on no call our phone would ring any time day or night. It was terrible. Do not, please, take this right away from us to have only those we wish to call us...it does not include people wanting to sell things we do not want. Our phone would ring at bedtime, dinner time, anytime...with sickness in family we would think only those kind of calls are necessary or friends who would not call when people are busy at dinner time, bedtime asleep. Many times one would answer the phone and it would be a automatic dial and no one would be on other end...no concern for we the people who did not ask that they call us and did not want their call.
